THE WEATHER.

For Eastern Florida: Rain tonight or Sunday; warmer.

The Christian Scientists are now holding their services in the Palmetto clubhouse, which they have rented for that purpose until next fall.

Miss L. C. Morse, who is teaching in the public school at Holly Hill, went from this city to Cocoa last night to join her mother and sister for today and Sunday.

Educated young woman desires position as governess or will take care of children. Good recommendations.
Address X. Y. Z., care Daily News office.

Mrs. Singleton Smith, who has been visiting with C. N. Pence and family, on South Palmetto avenue, departed this morning on her return to Milwaukee, Wis.

Asa Paine departed this morning for Minneapolis, Minn., called North by business interests and expect to return this season.
Mrs. Paine and children will remain here, however, until sometime in May.

B. L. Armstrong, who received a new Maxwell touring car last Saturday, is expecting next week a 24-horse power Maxwell runabout.
Mr. Armstrong disposed of his 12-horse power red Maxwell to a gentleman at Ormond.

Mrs. Frances Brayton, Mr. and Mrs.
S. K. Brayton and friend, Mrs. Julia Judson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brayton, of Poland, N. Y., who were at the Stillman in the early part of the season, returned from the south this week and will be at this house for the remainder of the season.

Several members of the Carnival Company imbibed too freely yesterday afternoon and were arrested by Marshal Myers for disorderly conduct. They gave bonds for appearance in the Mayor's Court this morning, but forfeited their bonds by failure to show up and the city is that much ahead.

Mrs. I. N. Terry and Miss Grace Sherrill, of Utica, N. Y., are guests of The Islington for a time.
The ladies are cousins of Rev. Dana Sherrill, of Hopkinton, Ill., who owns a winter home on Volusia avenue.
They have been making a tour of the continent and expect to go south from here, probably as far as Cuba.

W. W. Ross, wife and daughter, Miss Mamie, arrived last night from Gainesville last night for a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. B. L.
Armstrong, corner of Ridgewood and Magnolia avenue. Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Armstrong were college friends at North Hampton, Mass.
Mr. Williamson is engaged in developing a 75,000 acre tract of land at Gainesville.

Effects of Drugs.
Persons employed in India rubber factories sometimes inhale bisulphide of carbon and suffer from frightful dreams of being murdered or of falling over precipices. Opium stimulates imagination; alcohol in excess excites dread and suspicion; hashish, from which the word assassin was derived, produces homicidal mania. These drugs have a distinct effect upon the moral sense. Sometimes, as from alcohol, a coarse and stupid brutality is stimulated, or, as from morphia, a gloomy and morose temper, or, as from cocaine, while the manner remains gentle, the victim develops thieving and lying habits.

Honor in Wall Street.

One would hardly consider the New York Stock Exchange exactly in the light of "a communion of saints." Indeed, to judge by much that appears in the daily papers and the muck raking magazines, this might be the last place to look for the very soul and spirit of integrity. But there it is "in the midst of them." Between members of that marble mansion of trade in securities on New York's famous Broad street no paper writing passes certifying to the binding obligation of a transaction. In the very fiercest rush and maddest vortex of the wild corner a word, a nod, the merest sign, amply suffices. Whatever it may lead to--irreparable loss, ruin, bankruptcy, no matter--the deal is closed. I am not professing to be an apologist for whatever crimes may be committed in the name of honor. I simply record the fact, to be easily verified, that the dealings on that exchange are "on honor." The Corinthian fairness of its pillared and entablatured front is not shamed by the constant and consistent uprightness of the traffic within.--Christian Register.

A Tragedy in Writing.

Illegible handwriting, which has given rise to so many comedies, led to a tragedy in the case of Bacher, a musical enthusiast of the last century who devoted several years to the composition of a history of Viennese music. His task finished, he submitted the manuscript to the Austrian imperial academy, which he had been led to believe would defray the cost of its publication. After three months his manuscript was returned. Despite their best efforts the members had been unable to decipher it. Bacher then endeavored to have his work copied, but every professional copyist who undertook the task had to confess himself baffled. He thereupon attempted dictating the work, only to find that even he could not decipher it, and, heartbroken at the discovery that his years of toil had proved fruitless, he attempted suicide and finished his days in a lunatic asylum.

Her Cab.

Mary Ann of Lancaster Gate, basement, was having a week off and had arrived back at her little native village in all her metropolitan paint and feathers.

It was a very little native village, and Mary Ann, after her many months' service in town, didn't think so very much of it. Even James, the station porter and her old sweetheart, seemed hopelessly insignificant, and instead of staggering him with the kiss that he expected she looked him up and down, comparing him with a certain gentleman whose acquaintance she had recently made and who wore plush breeches and silk stockings.

"Porter," she said grandly, "do you know if there is a cab here to convey me and my luggage home?"
"Well, I don't know about a cab," responded the staggered yokel, "but there's yer mother outside wi' a barrer!"--London Scraps.

Insulted.

"Have you lived in this town very long, Miss Sear?"
"Of course not! Do I look old enough to have lived anywhere very long?"

His Obligations.

"I owe Pjenks a call."
"Going there this evening?"
"No. You see--that isn't all I owe him."--Cleveland Leader.
